

Donvale Dunkers

Privacy Policy

Introduction

At Donvale Dunkers Basketball Club privacy is a priority. Dunkers does not give out personal information about participants involved in basketball except as mentioned below, and personal information is protected.

In this privacy policy the expression "personal information" is used to refer to information about an individual whose identity is apparent or can be reasonably ascertained from the information or opinion.

Dunkers recognises the rights of basketball participants to control their personal information. Dunkers does not collect personal information, except when it is knowingly provided by basketball participants.

Information Collection

Dunkers collects personal information to enable it or third parties to provide services and benefits, maintain necessary records and to provide necessary information.

Information Use and Disclosure

Dunkers uses and discloses personal information (such as name and address details) for the purpose of providing services to participants in basketball or for commercial purposes where Dunkers has obtained consent to do so. Such commercial purposes may include the sale of mailing lists by Dunkers to third party mailing houses, or the disclosure of personal information to Dunkers sponsors under sponsorship agreements.

Dunkers also uses and discloses personal information to Basketball Australia, the Australian Sports Commission or other similar body where it is required under Dunker's obligations to those bodies.

Dunkers will not disclose personal information to other persons without consent unless such disclosure is authorised or required by law or to publish details of hearings of the Tribunal, Ethics Committee and other bodies, or for such things as results of matches, selection to teams and other similar basketball related activity.

Persons who participate in the Dunkers Committee may have their contact information published on the Dunkers web site and other Dunkers publications.

Photography

In compliance with MEBA guidelines, Dunkers permits the taking of photos and or videos by family members or coaches for personal use. Dunkers will use photos within the framework permitted by MEBA outlined below.

For your reference - Photographs taken at MEBA or other basketball events may be published by MEBA but names or other identification of the persons in the photographs will not be published without consent unless the person is a known public figure.

As a courtesy, the coach or manager of the players team and or opposition team should also be notified of the intention to photograph or video a game.

Data Security

When it collects personal information, Dunkers takes reasonable steps to keep that information secure and to protect that personal information from misuse or loss and from unauthorised access, modification or disclosure.

When using the Web Site you should be aware that no data transmission over the Internet can be guaranteed as totally secure. Although Dunkers strives to protect such information, Dunkers does not warrant the security of any information transmitted to it over the Internet and you do so at your own risk.

Access, Corrections and Further Information

If any person wishes to review or make corrections to their personal information, they may do so at any time, by contacting Dunkers during normal business hours.
